Drawings

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(4) because reference character "19" has been used to designate both strips and channel in figures 3 and 5; reference character "L1" has been used to designate both free leading end and first log in figure 5. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because on page 6, lines 14-15, "an axis 1A" should be --an axis A-A--. Correction is required.

Claim Objections

Claims 1-22 are objected to because of the following informalities:

In claim 1:

Line 1, "Method" should be --A method--.

In claims 2-14:

Line 1, "Method" should be --The method--.

In claim 15:

On page 6, line 3, "means" should be --a means--.

In claims 16-22:

Line 1, "Rewinding machine" should be --The rewinding machine--.

Appropriate corrections are required.

Claims 19-20 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim.

Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. Claim 19 does not constitute a further limitation since claim 18 recites, "at least one longitudinal band," which is similar to "a single longitudinal band," recited in claim 19.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112 2nd Paragraph

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 8 and 15-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 8 reciting, "said two bands are composed of glues with different characteristics," is indefinite and vague. What different characteristic (i.e., color, shape, adhesive, etc.) of glue is applicant referring to?

Claim 15 is indefinite and vague. How can the web material [be] fed around said first web element before the web material is severed? Is applicant referring to said first winding element instead?

Claim 22 reciting, "glues of different types along said two longitudinal bands," is indefinite and vague. Which different type (i.e., color, shape, adhesive, etc.) of glue is applicant referring to?

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Art Unit: 3654

Claims 1-22 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 12-20 and 29-36 of copending Application No. 10/535424. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both applications claim a process and apparatus for transferring at least part of the glue from the core to the web material, in proximity to the final free edge, to close the final free edge of the first log. The claims of the two applications differing only by minor phraseology which obviously does not affect the scope of the invention.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. U.S. Patent No. 4487377 explains the concept that some of the glue from the core is transferred to the tail of the web, which the tail portion is used to "tie" the tail end of the log. However, as explained by the applicant in the specification, on page 2, lines 1-11, the completed log is glued after cutting the web material, which is different from applicant's claimed device.
